plans as to methods of enlisting the whole constituency of the church and the whole power of the constituency deeper spiritual life. On each of these essentials Mr. Doughty enlarged.

The second speaker was J. Campbell White, secretary of the movement, whose theme was the evangelization of the world in the life of the present generation by the universal spread and preaching of the gospel. In a brilliant and convincing address he explained how this could be and will be done. United Christian effort will accomplish it. The two addresses aroused great enthusiasm and determination.

The convention was a busy body to day, with its morning, afternoon and night sessions, and with its many addresses by representatives of the different Protestant denominations—the Rev. R. H. Bennett, of Lynchburg, the Rev. G. C. F. Bratenall, of Washington; the Rev. R. Cronk, of Columbia S. C.; the Rev. Dr. Lilly and Eugene C. Maasale of Richmond; the Rev. C. S. Hounshell, of Korea, and others, including Mr. Doughty and Mr. White
